

GLEN LESLIE NEWS

By Wanda Zenner – June 2021

Although the lilacs and the roses at the Glen Leslie Cemetery and Church suffered quite a bit of “winter-kill” and did not bloom to their full potential, there will be beautiful flowers blooming in the Cemetery thanks to Bonnie LaValley and her sister.

The sisters decided to plant several flowers on their parents’ graves. Although the plants are small now, it won’t be long before the area will be covered in colorful blooms. If you visit the cemetery this summer, make sure you look for the beautiful flowers on the graves of Neil and Betty McLaughlin.

Neil McLaughlin’s grave left, Betty McLaughlin’s above

This special project reminded me of the minutes of the East Glen Women’s Institute for 1934 that recorded the “Institute” as having purchased annual flower seeds for $1.00 for the beautification of the Glen Leslie Cemetery.

Reference

Information provided by Bonnie (McLaughlin) LaValley

Photos by Wanda Zenner