Wedding, Paint, Flowers

*Written by Wanda Zenner
July 2019*

You never know what might be happening at the little Church! I received a call from a photographer (Judy Wiebe of WillowBee Photo Art) on June 8, 2019 asking if she could view the inside of the Church. Imagine my surprise when I arrived to find that she was taking wedding photos for a young couple by the name of Will and Ester (last name not provided). It would appear that a bouquet of lilacs were picked from the Cemetery grounds. The lilacs were exceptionally beautiful this year.

The church has been freshened up with a coat of paint on the window frames and door as well as the background for the sign at the west entrance. What a difference it made. Flowers have been planted by the west sign and should be blooming soon.

Stay tuned for Glen Leslie News - you never know what could happen next.

Ingraham Meditation Area – beautiful as usual
